

I think that weakening the laws on NJ's consumer protection laws is absurd. Telemarketers call my residence very late at night...very early in the morning and even on Sundays. A lot of them are very rude and even pressure you to remain on the phone when you tell them that you are busy and then keep calling back when you hang up. I think that the do not call policy should remain in effect as it is today.